

SYSTEM AND METHOD FOR COMMINGLED REMITTANCE PAYMENT PROCESSING

Abstract

A system and method for processing payment materials having at least one side with payment information, comprising providing a database having at least one electronic template having biller information specific to a biller, scanning the side of the payment materials to create a digital image, parsing the digital image for the payment information; and matching the payment information with the biller information.